Museum Mishap : OSINT - (Beginner)

Creator: Basil Tiongson Points: –

Description

This is an OSINT challenge that involves the user looking for a password on a publicly accessible Instagram account and entering that password into a mock museum website to reveal the challenge flag. Users will be given the mock website where they will see one of the contributors is connected to WiCyS and will then look for his public account on Instagram by looking for his name in the following of the WiCyS CtF account. His post will contain the password they need to input into the website to get the flag.

Github Path: /OSINT/Museum_Mishap

Prompt

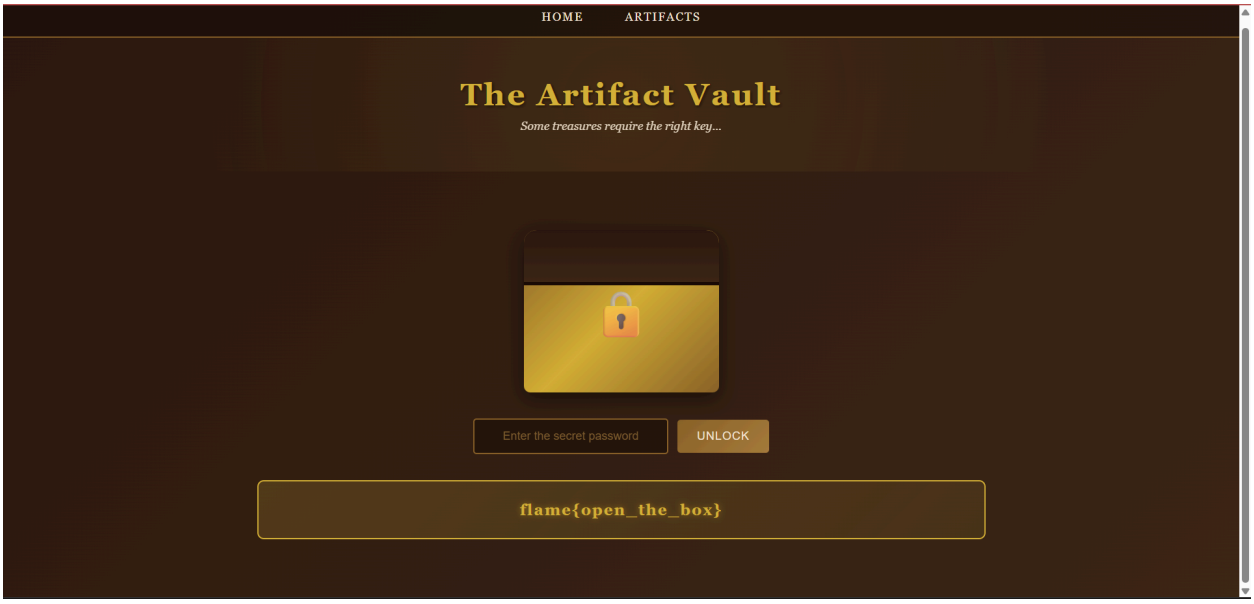
UIC's Paleontology department has opened up a brand new museum! But before they can show off their brand new discovery they need your help. One of the paleontologists has lost the key to their Artifact Vault and has asked you specifically to help them find it. He says that he remembers holding onto it until he got distracted posting pictures of the dig site...

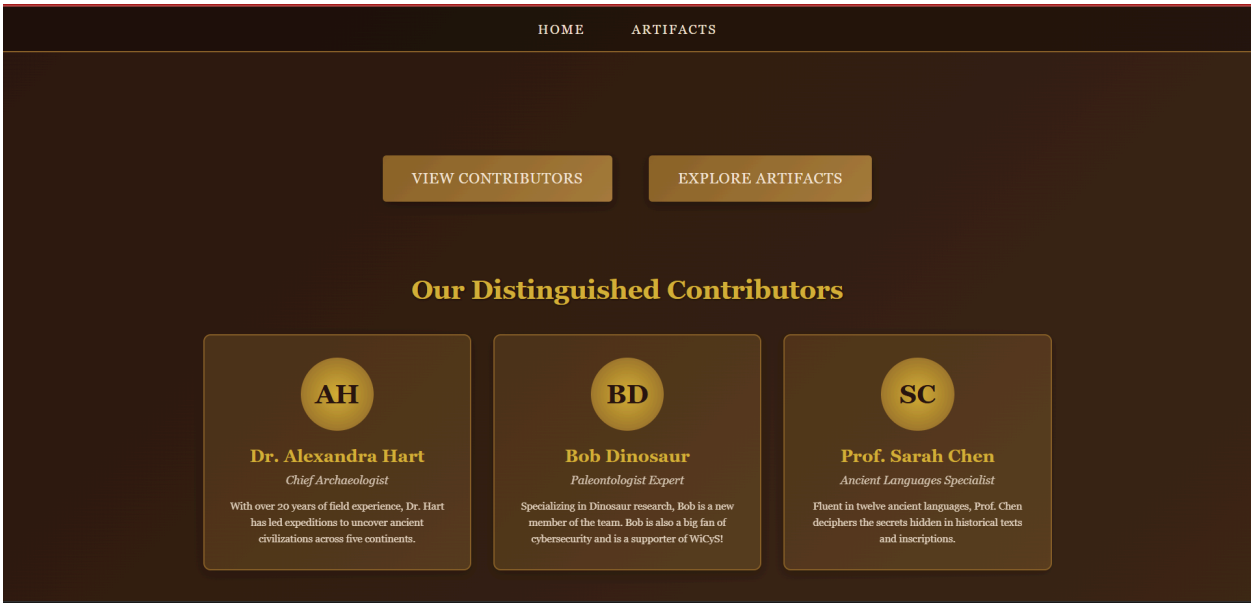
Hints

1. The paleontologist says that he wanted to post a cool picture of the dig site to show his friends. Where do you usually post pictures?
2. He recently followed WiCyS because he loves cybersecurity too.
3. Maybe the key is visible in his picture?

Solution

1. Go to the mock museum website and look at the contributors. Bob Dinosaur is the contributor to look for.
2. Go to the WiCyS instagram page and look through their following for him. His only post is a picture of a dig site with the key hidden somewhere in it.
3. That key is the password to the artifact vault on the museum website which will reveal the flag when entered.

Flag




flame{open_the_box}